

It doesn't take much to keep Nick Bruechle happy—a few surfboards, a motorcycle, a cat, a computer, and the opportunity to write the stories he wants to tell.

He has these things, thanks an understanding, indulgent wife who keeps them all in the lifestyle to which they are accustomed, expecting little more than a clean house, cooked meals and the occasional enjoyable read. He considers himself a lucky man, and he loves his life almost as much as he loves his wife.

He can be found on Facebook, Twitter, and his website.

Rufo's Dog Contributor:

Issue #1, January 2020. "The Foamer."